External CSS

Ethical Dairy

Task 1

Add the link to the external CSS document to each of the three html files.

The head of your document should look something like the image below.

```html
<head>

    <link rel="stylesheet" href="style.css">

    <title> The Ethical Dairy </title>

</head>
```

Task 2

Using the completed designs on the following pages add the required DIV tags and Classes to our_story.html and news.html

Task 3

Implement CSS in the external stylesheet, and the per the style guidance contained in the purple boxes on the following pages.

The Ethical Dairy

"We both get our fair share at The Ethical Dairy!"

We produce traditional cheeses made with unpasteurised organic milk sourced from our own dairy herd, where we keep the calves with their mothers to suckle.

Our ethical dairy model is based around treating the animals, the land, our environment and the people who work here with respect and kindness.

Explore our Site

- Our Story
- Latest News
- Visit our sister company Cream o' Galloway

All Pages

Font
Verdana

Header Images
All Pages

Width
800px

The Ethical Dairy

Our Story

Our Big Idea

The intensification of dairy farming has been a concern of ours for many years, so we've been working hard to come up with a different solution. Our big idea?

A new method of dairy farming that keeps the calves with their mothers to suckle. Our ethical dairy model is based around treating the animals, the land, our environment and the people who work here with respect and kindness.

The Ethical Journey So Far

Since October 2016 our calves have stayed with their mothers for 5 to 6 months. We still milk them in that period, but only once a day.

We are still at the early stages of The Ethical Dairy project, but our new approach to dairy farming has already led to huge reductions in the use of antibiotics, increases in biodiversity and healthier, happier cows.

Join Our Revolution

Healthier, happier cows and calves are the goal of our radical new dairy system, alongside of course producing milk with which to make our delicious cheese. If you're interested in helping us prove that commercial dairy farming can be ethical, sustainable and compassionate, then please sign up for our supporters newsletter below.

We email our members a few times each year to ask for your opinion on new ideas and to share our news

Return Home

H1

Background
rgb(55,38,8)

Colour
Wheat

H2

Colour
rgb (243,145,1)

Decoration
Underlined

The Ethical Dairy

News

Crowdfunding

First of all,a huge thank you to everyone who has donated to ourcrowdfunder and to everyone who has shared our campaign video. In just over a week we have raised an incredible 22% of our total! We are a little overwhelmed by your messages of support in particular. Thank you for believing in us.

Posted on 17 September 2018, by Brian

The story behing #cooseday livestreams

Several months ago, just after the excitement of the cows and calves going out to pasture for the summer, we took a moment to quietly watch them, all relaxed and happy munching away on the lush green grass in beautiful countryside.

We decided to have a go on Tuesdays, re-named #coosdays on Scottish social media (courtesy of VisitScotland who like to demonstrate each Tuesday just how attractive cows look in the Scottish countryside).

Posted on 21 August 2018, by Lizzie

Return Home

DIV

Background
rgb(243,145,1)

Date

Colour
White

Style
Italic

Size
10pt

News Images

Width
40%